

Recruitment inefficiency is hiding talent

Recruitment extra July 2008

Inefficient HR and recruitment practices are exaggerating Australia's skills shortage.

Michael Rhodes, Founder and CEO of NEED, says with more than half a million Australians "under-employed" and the average staff turnover rate in Australia at approximately 30%, there is a lot of talent floating in the so-called "skills-short market"